

Matjaz MULEJ, 1941, Slovene. University of Maribor, Faculty of Economics and Business; Professor Emeritus, Systems and Innovation Theory (applied also to social responsibility for 12 years). Close to 2.500 publications in close to 50 countries (see: IZUM/Cobiss/Bibliographies, 08082). Visiting professor abroad: 15 semesters in USA, Austria, China, Mexico, Germany. Further more than 50 talks in universities and conferences on all continents. Author: Dialectical Systems Theory (see: François, 2004, International Encyclopedia of Systems and Cybernetics); Innovative Business Paradigm and Methods for emerging economies. Supervisor to 26 Ph.D. and 62 M.S. finished theses. Member: European Academy of Sciences and Arts, Salzburg (2004), European Academy of Sciences and Humanities, Paris (2004), International Academy for Systems and Cybernetic Sciences, Vienna, now Pau, France (2010; establishing head, now vice-president). B.S. in economic analysis, M.S. in Development Economics, Doctorates in Economics / Systems Theory, and in Management / Innovation Management. Most of the available awards for work on innovation in Yugoslavia, Slovenia, Maribor, University of Maribor and IRDO Institute for the Development of Social Responsibility. Two children, 4 grand-children, 1 grand-grand-child; married since 1962. Active sportsman (tennis). E-mail: matjaz.mulej@um.si; homepage: www.irdo.si.